Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-12, drawn to process of molding a container, classified in class 264.
- II. Claim 13, drawn to a fuel tank, classified in class 220
- III. Claim 14, drawn to automotive component classified 296.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because:

Inventions I and II are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the fuel tank of invention II can be made by injection molding.

Inventions II and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case invention II is directed to specific fuel tank structure while invention III is drawn to general automotive component.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification and their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
